The Story...

You are hanging around with a group of friends at a play area when one of you notices a bag that has been left there. You investigate what's inside it.

There's a package inside that is well wrapped up, a few pieces of personal clothing, a CD and an envelope with an address on it. The address is not very far away. You decide to take the bag there.

The house is quite big and obviously worth a lot of money. You go to the front door which is partially open. After ringing the bell a few times you hear someone shout:

'What!?'

'We've found your bag!' you reply.

'Come in!'

You go in.

That was one of the worst mistakes you ever made...
